BEFORE TRIP START

Climate

Tanzania is a land without winter. The hilly Country in the North has a pleasant climate from June - September. The coast is generally hot and humid with an average temperature of 30 degrees Celsius. The main rainy season is from March to May, the hottest being from October - February. Temperatures at the Summit of Kilimanjaro, range from -20 to -25C.

Language

Although Tanzania has many local dialects, Swahili is the official language. English is Tanzania's second official Language and its commercial Language. Most people you will come in contact with will be quite fluent in English. You may find it useful to buy a Swahili-English Phrase book on arrival.

Passport & Visa

All visitors to Tanzania must have Passports valid for travel to Tanzania as well as Visas to enter Tanzania obtainable from our Diplomatic representatives abroad.

Currently, visas are available for most nationalities at TZ Airports & Border posts (if you intend purchasing a Visa on arrival, please check with the Tanzanian diplomatic representatives abroad or check with us prior, to make sure this option is available).

Health

Tanzania has re-introduced health desks at all ports of entry at Mainland Tanzania & Zanzibar. Please ensure you bring yellow fever Vaccination certificates with you to show on entry, if requested.

Anti-malarial medication is recommended to be taken a few days prior to arrival, during your stay and a short period after returning. We would strongly recommend that you consult your Doctor.

Electricity & Appliances

Most Hotels/Lodges in Cities in Tanzania run on electricity with many having standby Generators. However please note that many Tented Camps and Lodges when on safari in Tanzania run on Generators which are turned off after dinner and on again just before dawn. We recommend that you carry a Flashlight and extra Batteries.

Money Matters

The currency in Tanzania is the Tanzania Shilling. The US Dollar, however, is most widely used. Foreign currency can be exchanged for local currency at the Banks and Bureau De Changes. Changing money on the streets is prohibited and dangerous.

CREDIT CARDS: Although some Hotels/Curio shops accept Credit Cards. Credit Cards are not so widely used. In places that they can be used, surcharges of between 5-15% or more should be expected.

ATM's: Many major cities in Tanzania have ATM's (that accept Master card and Visa). A pin code is required, and the cash withdrawal limit is about US$300 per day which you receive in local Tanzanian Shillings.

Dress

Safari attire is casual and comfortable. The emphasis at most Lodges & Camps is on informal but comfortable wear. However at some Lodges gentlemen are required to wear long trousers for the evening meals.

Topless sunbathing is not permitted and ladies should wear appropriate clothing in public places. A jacket will be found handy especially in the evenings & early mornings.

Food

In Tanzania, food is of a very high standard. Avoid drinking Water from the tap. Bottled water may be purchased locally before embarking on Safari. It is also available at the game Lodges.

Security

As in all Countries, security is basically a matter of common sense. Crime is not rare in big cities in

TRIP HANDBOOK

Tanzania, though, precautions must be taken. We recommend you avoid walking in the streets after dark; avoid leaving valuables or large amounts of money in your Hotel room or Vehicle or carrying it with you.

Tipping

Tipping is customary on a Tanzanian Safari/Trek. Most of our Safaris & Treks at DONAK Safaris are private, i.e. Small Groups, Combo safaris, Day Tours or Trekking.

*Below is a recommended guideline for tipping

Safari Driver/Guide: US$10 to $15 per vehicle per day

Safari Cook: US$10 to $15 per vehicle per day

Mountain Guide: US$10 per day per guide from group

Mountain Cook: US$10-$12 per day per cook from group

Assistant Mt. Guide: US$8 per day per asst guide from group

Porters on Mountain: US$15-$20 per porter for duration from group

Porters at Lodge: US$1-2

Gratuity Box

These are found at most Lodges. We recommend these as your tip is then distributed fairly amongst all the staff. DONAK Safaris recommends that tipping is usually done at the end of the trip and given directly to the person it is meant for.

What to bring-Packaging List

Clothing

Khaki and green colored clothes are much recommended on safari. Bright colors should be avoided because they tend to scare animals; camouflage clothes are illegal because they are worn by local soldiers.
